SPRING INTO SPRING!

The weather is good and the temps are warm. Why not come out and enjoy the weather at the John VanAusdall Reading Pavilion at the rear of the library? There are tables and benches next to the soothing sounds of the fountain and fish pond. Bring a sack lunch and we'll make it worth your while, providing you with some previews of new books and other materials that have recently arrived at the library.

Historic Photos Identification on Tuesdays at 1:00

Every Tuesday afternoon at 1:00, citizens may come out to the library and look at old photos to help identify what they show and who is in the picture. This is a joint partnership between the Pemiscot County Historical Society and the Caruthersville Public Library. It will be fun to sit with your friends and enjoy the old memories these pictures show.

Take a new look at our Genealogy Room

The Kay Norton Gill Genealogy Room has received a freshening up in the last few months. Shelves have been straightened and sections rearranged to take advantage of the spaciousness of the room since the shelving unit was moved to the main library for DVDs.

This room houses most of the collection of this revered local genealogist and other local citizens researching their family histories have donated many books from states all over the east and the south. It is always interesting to take a few hours just to see what is available when investigating your own family lineage.

Basic genealogy books are available for those just starting out, too.

New Children's Books in readiness for Summer Reading

This year's summer reading program is themed "Libraries Rock" and to get us ready, we have a number of new board books, children's easy reader and non-fiction books, as well as plenty of juvenile fiction for the bigger kids.

Our Evergreen catalog now enables us to look up the AR level and reading level of each book from the circulation desk, although most books do have stickers showing the levels, and/or written on the inside front cover of the books. This is one more way to help children to become better readers and to enjoy reading for pleasure during the summer months, while building their skill level for fall when school resumes.

We are planning programming to make our summer days full of fun and reading pleasure. Please make plans to sign children up at the end of May.
